

A house in Komsomolskoje village. Situated 4 km away from the highway Vyborg-Svetogorsk. Private owned. New – have been built as a guesthouse for some horse business, that never came into existence. Land, belonging to this building, is 1350 sq. m.

There is a two-wing greenhouse right by the house. In between two wings there is a compartment with a furnace and a certain supply of firewood. Such a greenhouse is actually a big fortune – rehabilitants can use this greenhouse not only for the purpose of having some greenery for food – but for sale also. In winter that would be an excellent source of income

At the entry of the house there is a light hall with many windows around. Right next after it you enter into a big room of about 30-35 sq. , which is ideally suited as a meeting room. Another big room follows of another 20-25 sq. meters. My camera failed at this moment because of the presence of open lights, hanging down from the ceiling – only one survived of the left corner of the first room.

First storey is also equipped with a small basin (maybe a baptistry in the future?), a toilet and a firewood heater, that drives hot water through radiators installed in the building.

Electricity is not installed in that part of the building yet, that's why all the pictures are taken on with inbuilt flash alone.

On the second floor there is a long corridor with 5 rooms – an ideal setting for a rehabilitation center. One room is bigger than the others – you can see it on a picture below. It may fit 4-6 persons. Other rooms are smaller and may fit 2-3 persons. An almost finished bathroom is found on this floor also.

A house also has a cellar (ground floor), a rather big attic. There is a well right by the building.
